Electronic resources a boon in this pandemic period: Experts

Speakers from different background attending a webinar of PRSU.

Staff Reporter RAIPUR, May 18

THE COVID-19 pandemic has changed everything. The latest resources of education have changed. Anyone, from anywhere, can access, share and download, from these resources, said he keynote speaker Ashok Kumar Rai from Gandhinagar, Gujarat while addressing a webinar organised by Pt Sundarlal Sharma Library and School of Studies in Information Science, Pt Ravishankar Shukla University (PRSU), Raipur on Tuesday. He further said that with one click, one can find desired book.

The Chief guest Professor Keshari Lal Verma, Vice-Chancellor, PRSU, said that the situation has made everyone to learn electronic resources, new technological facilities. Life depends on these resources 100 percent these days.

In his presiding speech, Dr Himanshu Shekhar, Kar, Principal, Government MMR Postgraduate College, Champa welcomed all the guests and all the participants.

The educational institutions have been closed for almost one year. The whole country is bearing the brunt of the Corona. In this era of pandemic, electronic resources - made available through WhatsApp, Google Meet and YouTube have become a boon for students provided they utilise it properly, he said.

Chief Librarian, Dr Suparno Sen Gupta spoke on various e-resources and available resources in Chhatisgarh. He said that today 40 million population in India does not have internet facility. 60% people of India live in villages and only 25 per cent of the villages has internet access. It is around 40 per cent in the cities. Today, there is a need to increase electronic resources in the villages as well as cities.

The keynote speaker of this webinar was introduced by Dr Praveen Sharma, Librarian, Government Nagarjuna Postgraduate Science College, Raipur and a vote of thanks was given by Professor (Dr) Harish Sahu.
